Reconciliation Services:
Interregional
Annual Monitoring
2015
Russian Association
Of Restorative Mediation
(excerpts)

Basic Concepts

For the purpose of the monitoring we use the following concepts and terms:

Territorial Reconciliation Service (TRS) — a conventional term for the organization which implement restorative programs in some territory.

The term 'service' may describe:

- a division of an institution/agency (e.g. psychological or other specialized center under Department of Education, Social Protection, Youth Committee etc.) which is assigned to carry out restorative programs as a part of its activities;
  - an agency/institutional specialized worker
  - an individual reconciliation service;
  - an agency/department which employs restorative programs in context of its general role — working with juvenile offenders.
- Other options are definitely possible.

School Reconciliation Service — a formally established (by the headmaster) team of youth and adults, whose role is to implement restorative programs in school when a conflict or youth crime occur. All-adult reconciliation service is also possible. We consider the service active, if it carries out at least 4 restorative programs a year or was established less than year ago (but also implemented some restorative programs). ### Foundational Values and Principles of Restorative Justice:

- Offender`s responsibility before the victim in form of retribution
- healing of the victim;
- Involving social environment in solving problems leading to the offence and its consequences;
- Restoration of the participants` ability to understand each other
- Caring about the future: how to prevent the the wrongdoing from repeating

When restorative programs are implemented in resolving conflict/tension, so participants` roles are not defined as 'offender' and 'victim' the focus is on all the parties taking responsibility for settling the problem without compromising their values.

It is crucial for any restorative program involving minors to focus on meeting the following conditions:

- relatives and significant others help participants to realize and fulfill moral ideals and values, lack of which resulted in conflict/offense
- family, friends and school community support positive changes and implementation of the reconciliation agreement (plan);
- a responsible parental position toward their children and the situation is restored.

Restorative Program – Restorative Mediation, Family Group Conference, Community Circle, and, perhaps, other forms of dealing with criminal, conflict and difficult situations implementing key values and principles of RJ.

Program Started – a program is considered started if there was at least 1 preliminary meeting.

Completed Program — a program is considered completed if participants resolved the situation (or designed a shared plan how to settle the situation) and the principles of Restorative Justice/ Restorative Mediation were fulfilled in this process. The date of program's closure may be as late as January (reviewed year).

Uncompleted Program — a program is not considered completed if there was at least one preliminary meeting, and then one party refused to meet or the parties didn't come to agreement at a reconciliation meeting.

Category of Cases referred to Restorative Programs (chart TRS-2 — TRS-6, also chart TRS-1 columns 15-24):

- 1) Juvenile Crime (t. TRS-2) — an act carried out by a minor of penal responsibility age, when a criminal charge is filed.
- 2) 'Socially-dangerous act' an offence by a youth under the age of penal responsibility (t. TRS-3) - criminal proceedings are refused to initiate due to the age of the offender.
- 3) Other Juvenile Misdemeanors (t. TRS-4) — minors' injurious acts which cannot be listed under 1 and 2, such as petty theft, damaging property etc.
- 4) Family Conflict (t. TRS-5) — conflicts between minors and their parents, as well as spousal conflict, if minors are affected.
- 5) Conflict in Educational Institutions (t. TRS-6) – conflicts and difficult situations in schools.
